COMMITTEE OF CABINET TO CONSIDER HIGH LIVING COST

Committee Wants Government to Commandeer all Flour Supplies of Country

And Sell at $6.00 a Barrel, the Government to Stand the Loss

(By United Press)
Washington, Aug. 4.—Cheap bread may be one of the result of government efforts to reduce the high cost of living. Whether five cent loaves will be put into the market basket is a question in which officials are at variance. But they agree that if the government allows wheat to sell at market price instead of $2.26 as guaranteed, a considerable drop in the price of bread will result.

The price of wheat is one of the things to be considered by a committee of the cabinet and other high officials who will tackle the cost of living problem.

The committee wants the government to take all the flour supplies of the country at nominal prices from the millers and sell it to the public at a loss.

With the prices remaining at $2.26 flour can be bought by the government at $8.60 a barrel after making allowance for profits and sell to the millers at a profit. The government could sell it at $6.00 a barrel at a loss of $2.60. 250,000,000 barrels would require the expenditure of just one half of the fund of $1,000,000,000 appropriated by congress. Thus the farmer would get the guaranteed price and the public would get cheaper food.

12 Infantile Paralysis Cases in State 8 in Brainerd

St. Paul, Aug. 4.—There are 12 active cases of infantile paralysis in Minnesota. Eight of these have been reported in Brainerd and four from scattered sections.

Chas. Smith, secretary of the State Board of Health says there is no epidemic of the disease.

BOMB WRECKS LAWYER'S HOME

Los Angeles Residence of Oscar Lawyer Destroyed; Himself and Wife Injured

Los Angeles, Aug. 3.—The residence of Oscar Lawyer, formerly assistant United States attorney general, and also formerly United States district attorney for southern California, was totally destroyed early this morning by what the police believed was a gas bomb. He and his wife were badly burned. There is little hope for him.

Says Woman's Success in Industry During War Does Not Threaten Home Life

Mrs. William H. Appleton, who was active in the management of the Y. M. C. A.'s Eagle Hut in London, has returned to England after taking a rest in America. She says there is no truth in the charge that the English women's success in industry during the war has threatened home life.

Eight Persons Killed by Explosion in U. S. Arsenal

(By United Press)
New Brunswick, N. J., Aug. 4.—Eight persons were believed to have been killed and twenty-five injured in an explosion at the U. S. army arsenal near here.

Three magazines are reported to have been blown up when fire resulting from an explosion in a box car reached them. Twenty-five beds were prepared in a hospital to receive the injured. Residents of the section are fleeing fearing another explosion.

Baker Submits Plan for Universal Training to Congress

(By United Press)
Washington, Aug. 4.—Secretary Baker today submitted to congress the war department plan of universal military training.

PACIFIC FLEET SHAKEN UP BY DOUBLE QUAKE

Six Dreadnaughts Off Coast of Colima Affected by Upheaval of Earth

On Board the U. S. S. New Mexico, Aug. 3.—Six dreadnaughts of the Pacific fleet were shaken severely by a double earthquake shock at 4:18 o'clock Saturday afternoon 20 miles off the coast of the state of Colima, Mexico. None of the warships was reported damaged.

Flagship Trembles
The New Mexico trembled from bow to stern and the navigation officer sounded "collision quarters" on the flagship's siren. Sailors in the foretop said the basket masts of the warships swayed like poplar trees in a gale.

Officers on the quarter deck hurried to their posts and the crew and the marines took their places. Meanwhile all watertight compartments on the New Mexico were closed and inspection parties were sent into the holds to see if there had been any damages to the hull.

Admiral Hugh Rodman, commanding the fleet, quickly recognized the cause of the disturbance.

Crew to Quarters.
"It's an earthquake," he said. "We are right off the coast of Colima, where there are many earthquakes."

Wireless telephone messages were received soon after from the five other dreadnaughts reporting that they felt the shocks.

Admiral Rodman kept the crew at quarters for 15 minutes and then ordered the "secure signal" to be sounded. He took the whole incident as if it were a matter of routine, giving his orders quietly while officers and men were running to their posts in the tense excitement of the first few moments.

One of the officers reported that he believed the earthquake came from the old crater in the Sierra mountains which fringe the coastline near here, dropping off into the sea.

(By United Press)
Washington, Aug. 4.—Naval officials said today that they believed no serious damage was done to the Pacific fleet, thought to be damaged by an earthquake at Colima on the west coast of Mexico.

Officials express their opinion that the ships might be struck by a tidal wave caused by volcanic action.

By a 1 to 0 score Brainerd Sunday afternoon defeated Little Falls at Koering field and won the pennant of the Central Minnesota Baseball League. The crowd of fans present was the largest in the history of the league, Little Falls being represented by a regular McGarry-Walker touring party.

As Chateau-Thierry is a bright, resplendent spot in the annals of American arms over there, as Bunker Hill loomed up in the days of '76, so shines this encounter with the old-time rival of Brainerd, won fairly and squarely without argument on its merits.

For 13 innings Brainerd witnessed the fastest ball game ever played here. It was a bewildering succession of strikeouts by Wood, the Montana star of Little Falls, causing 21 local men to fan.

Pitted against him was the veteran Patterson, idol of the Chicago Cubs and of later Minneapolis league fame. Patterson is no young kid any more and it was a feather in his cap to go the whole 13-inning route with no break in delivery.

Backed by fine fielding of Brainerd, Patterson allowed but six hits while Wood, in spite of his big shut-out record, allowed nine hits. Brainerd made some errors, but they were all invariably retrieved and allowed no runs to slip in.

And the rest of the game? It was one fast play after another in which runs were choked off by both sides.

First Inning.

For Little Falls Longley out, Patterson to Cook. Tanner flew to Sheffo, Brandell, out Stallman to Cook. No runs, no hits. For Brainerd Stallman and Fuller fanned and Tempelton out third to first. No runs, no hits.

Second Inning.

Armstrong out Benda to Cook. Wood and Stoll singled. Bessemer sacrificed, out to Cook, who fielded unassisted. Pete Newman out Patterson to Cook. No runs, 2 hits. For Brainerd, Cook singled, Benda and Richardson fanned, Carlson walked, Sheffo fanned. No runs, 1 hit.

Third Inning.

Wetzel out to Cook, fielding unassisted. Longley flew to Carlson. Tanner got to first on an error of Stallman and stole second later. Brandell out, Patterson to Cook. No runs, no hits. For Brainerd Patterson and Stallman fanned, Fuller out, pitcher to first. No runs, no hits.

Fourth Inning.

Armstrong out, Benda to Cook. Wood out, Stallman to Cook. Stoll to first on an error of Stallman, an overthrow and then caught at second, Cook to Benda. No runs, no hits. For Brainerd Tempelton out third to first. Cook singled, but out later, third to second on Richardson.

French War Veteran Who at 14 Has Decided to Become an American

Michael Bourdain is a veteran of the United States army at fourteen. He was living with his parents in France when American troops were billeted on their farm. He picked up English quickly, soon became an interpreter and was attached to the Fifty-fourth Field Artillery. Of the 250 francs a month he was paid he kept five and gave the remainder to his parents. One of his many friends in the Fifty-fourth was E. H. Murphy, who in the army was a sergeant and in civil life a New York business man. Murphy formally adopted him and brought him to the United States. He sees that "Mike" writes regularly to his parents.

son's felder's choice. Benda fanned. No runs, one hit.

Fifth Inning.

R. R. SHOPMEN WILL STRIKE UNLESS FOOD COMES DOWN IN PRICE

The President of the Railway Department of the American Federation Will Tell Wilson

Cost of "High Living" Not High Cost of Living is to Blame

(By L. C. MARTIN, Staff Correspondent, United Press)

Washington, Aug. 4.—That it is the "cost of high living" instead of the "high cost of living" which has caused trouble in the U. S., Senator Smith of South Carolina today told the senate. It is time to stop everybody from running to congress for regulatory orders to control prices.

Smith said automobiles, picture shows and other pleasures are to be blamed for the high cost of living. Smith's speech was part of a lively debate on the cost of living.

Instead of having 1,250,000,000 bushels of wheat as estimated, we will have no more than 850,000,000. There will be a shortage of wheat throughout the world and the U. S. will not be able to furnish Europe with the wheat she needs.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota declared the average family spends 3 1/2 cents a day for flour and that it is the cheapest of all foods.

RAID COUNTERFEITERS

One Counterfeiter and One Detective Killed When Den of Counterfeiters is Raided

Minneapolis, Aug. 3.—James Hogan, 60, a former city sanitary inspector and twelfth ward political worker, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon in a revolver battle with four detectives who raided his home to arrest him as a counterfeiter.

Paul Gottfried, a St. Paul detective, was shot just before Hogan fell and is in St. Mary's hospital, where he is expected to die.

Mrs. Hogan, wife of the dead man, his son Harry, and his daughter Josephine were present, and were placed in the county jail. Mrs. Alice Hogan, wife of Harry Hogan, was also placed under arrest. Early today she was permitted to go home to care for her baby. Watching his chance to escape during the melee, Harry Hogan dashed out of the house armed, and was caught after a chase.

In the Hogan home at 4400 33rd Ave. S., were found four plaster-of-paris moulds for silver dollars; two spoons for melting lead; several files, 15 new dollars said to be counterfeit, dated 1882.

A veritable arsenal was also found in the place.

PRUSSIAN PLAN 'POLICE FORCE'

Organization Will Consist of From 100,000 to 300,000 Trained Soldiers

Coblenz, Aug. 3.—The Prussian government, according to American reports, is planning to organize a new and separate "police force" to consist of from 100,000 to 300,000 trained soldiers, solely as a force to suppress disorder. It is planned to arm this force with the latest type of military weapons and to put the men in garrisons throughout Germany.

The promoters, it is said, have expressed the hope that the allies will not object. This military police force is proposed as an organization distinct from the army of 200,000 men authorized by the peace treaty. The existing civil police and the great force of home guards planned by Gustave Noske, minister of defense.

The Prussian government, it is said, hopes to induce other states of the former German empire to adopt the plan.

Bill is Introduced for the Government to Buy Wheat at $2.26 and Sell at $1.50

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 4.—While railway shopmen today prepared to take their wage demand direct to President Wilson, members of a sub-committee of government officials named to investigate the cost of living, were getting reports into shape and many congressmen were preparing bills aimed at high prices.

Wilson returned from a week-end sail on the Potomac and at once took up a study of the food situation which promises to dominate official development in Washington until the problem is solved.

Bert Jewell, president of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor, planned to see the president during the day and tell him flatly that railway shopmen throughout the country will continue to walk out unless food costs come down and wages go up. The machinery of the department of justice is in operation to gather data in formulating plan to reduce prices.

It is believed that the sale of wheat is the basis for the high cost of other necessities. Rep. Madden of Illinois was preparing a bill authorizing the government to buy wheat from the farmers at the guaranteed price of $2.26 and resell at $1.50 per bushel. The government estimates the loss would be made up out of the one billion dollar fund established to make good the wheat price guarantee. The deficit would be paid in taxes.

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Aug. 4.—About ten thousand railway shopmen in the twin cities determined to strike at noon today were persuaded to hold up until tomorrow, when some word is expected from Washington regarding the wage demand sent to the government. Union men went to every shop to persuade the men to walk out today.

The local committee said they had waited long enough for investigation and conferences and would strike without waiting for the nation-wide vote to be completed August 24.

Word was received here that shop men in Sioux City, Iowa, and Havre, Mont., would walk out at noon today.

(By United Press)

1000 Men Out in St. Paul

St. Paul, Aug. 4.—One thousand shopmen in the Great Northern shops here walked out this afternoon despite the effort of union officials to delay action. The officials said they could not keep the men from walking out. They said they were tired of waiting for action on the food and wage question. Others were expected to follow the lead of the Great Northern shopmen.

INSPECTS DAIRIES OF BRAINERD

State Inspector Peter Schletty Reports Many Clean and Sanitary Places are Found

SPEAKS WELL OF B. E. KOECHER

Recommends Latter to be Deputy State Inspector of the City of Brainerd

"As a statement given the Dispatch, Peter Schletty, State Inspector of the Food and Dairy Commission, said:

"As I am the State Food and Dairy Inspector I have inspected most all the dairy and milk houses and barns in your city and was assisted by Officer B. E. Koehler, and was surprised to find so many clean and sanitary places, although we served papers on quite a few people for not selling clean milk. This year it is some different than in former years, as in former years we only inspected the large dairies and milk houses. But now we inspect all places even where the people keep one cow and I must say a good word of Officer Koehler, the good work he has done in your city and I recommend Mr. Koehler to your Honorable Mayor to be Deputy State Inspector for your city."

GUESTS WALK ON OCEAN FLOOR

Simon Lake, Inventor of New Salvaging Submarine, Conducts Party to Bottom

New York, Aug. 2—The first successful test has been made with a salvaging submarine, which, its inventor, Simon Lake, creator of the first submarine—believes will result in the recovery of many millions of dollars worth of wreckage sent to the bottom of the ocean by German submarines during the war.

By means of this invention, newspaper writers and photographers were given an opportunity to walk on the bottom of Long Island Sound while dressed in ordinary clothes, yesterday. The inventor has named his device, which consists of two boats, one a kind of mother craft containing most of the machinery, and the other the diving apparatus proper, the Argosy Argonaut III.

Corporations Being Formed

Captain Lake has manufactured the machine for the purpose of salvaging treasure which has been at the bottom of the sea since the war-time submarine ravages. The test demonstration was made yesterday in the Sound off Bridgeport, Conn., and was highly successful. A corporation with a capital of $10,000,000 is being organized for the development of the invention.

The inventor explained that with a 10 inch pump the submarine could salvage 100 tons of coal an hour at a cost of about five cents a ton, and with a 15 inch pump 1,500 tons an hour could be sucked up from the bottom of the sea.

From the top of the water the Argosy-Argonaut III had the appearance of a boat used for dredging or similar purpose and from one end a 30 foot steel tube projected along the surface of the water. At the end of the tube is a steel chamber some eight feet long and seven feet high, shaped somewhat like a flatiron. The base of the chamber measures seven feet.

The newspapermen climbed down through the tube and on reaching the end clambered into the chamber. Then compressed air was allowed to enter and the chamber with the tube bending down like an arm or lever from the mother tube allowed it to sink toward the bottom of the sound four fathoms down.

Trap Door on Bottom.

When the flatiron affair rested on the sand the air pressure was increased and a trap door on the bottom opened. Then with their shoes and stockings off the writers were able to pick up a number of small crabs and fishes.

Next week the Argosy-Argonaut III will begin to salvage some 4,000 tons of coal which were sunk off Norfolk harbor. A larger vessel with a tube of 200 feet is being planned, and according to Mr. Lake this has unlimited possibilities. Among the vessels which will be salvaged is the Bark Hussar, which was sunk in Hell Gate during the revolution with a treasure of $5,000,000 in gold on board.

BUILD TO SUIT HOUSEWIFE

Designers Appreciate Importance of House Construction From the Standpoint of the Women.

The average citizen, supported by the women of his household, is demanding improved home building and his will, of course, influence all future building operations. From now on consideration of the housing question must be primarily from the point of view of the housewife. Consequently, labor-saving devices will be increasingly stressed. Landlords have learned that it can be just as profitable to own well-kept properties as it is to own dilapidated tenements, or vacant lots filled with rubbish or billboards.

The United States Housing corporation, however, has not adopted any Utopian building scheme. It has simply recognized that the efficiency of the workman is seriously depreciated if he and his family must live in unsanitary dwellings. It has been proved that if he is to work to his best capacity he must be not only well housed, but housed adequately and comfortably within reasonable distance from his workshop and at a rental he will be able to pay.

Industrial housing is a comparatively new proposition in America. It is an old one in England, and in many ways it has been adequately solved. The problem there is now largely dealt with from the woman's angle.

Need for City Planning.

The need of city planning and the pushing of public work is greater today than ever before, said Walter D. Moody, managing director of the Chicago plan commission, in an interview with a representative of the Christian Science Monitor. Not only is this true because public work needs to be done to aid in the solution of the labor problem, continued Mr. Moody, but the cities in the United States have grown so rapidly in the last twenty years and the problems of city life are so complex that the new conditions cannot be coped with for the well-being of the people in them without a definite city plan to work to. The problems of parks, better housing, sanitation, ample means for recreation, and facilitation of traffic and the relief of traffic congestion, must be given special attention.

The Stories They Tell.

They say on Broadway that one of the best-known workmen took a contract to write a book for a new comic opera and received an advance fee of $1,000. When the time came to deliver the work he had not written a line. He did not want to admit this and he did not want to give back the $1,000. So he went to a bookstore, bought the book of an old opera, had it typewritten and read it to his patron.

"That," said his patron, "is the worst I ever heard, Harry. I can't take that mess of junk. It wouldn't last two days on Broadway."

"Let me try again," he begged. So he turned in the book of a big success when the amended date came around. The first book was that of "Patience," by Gilbert and Sullivan.

An elaborate classification of traits has been worked out.

Eight Cents Per Ton-Mile Can Be Effected When Road Is Lifted to Durable Class.

The report of the joint congressional committee which investigated highway economics in 1914 shows that a saving of eight cents per ton-mile can be effected in transportation costs when a road is lifted from the dirt to the durable class. This does not take into account increased real estate valuations or social advantages from the improvement.

A SILO ON THE FARM

By E. G. ROTH
(County Agricultural Agent)

The increase of the dairy industry, the good marketing facilities, and prices offered by competing creameries together with the excellent prospects for a large corn yield this year, has induced many farmers to construct silos for the purpose of providing a succulent, palatable roughage for winter feed, while others are thinking seriously of purchasing silos.

The use of a silo is no longer considered an experiment but has been successfully tried for many years by thousands of farmers throughout the country, who find that by the use of ensilage they can avail themselves of the use of oil by-products such as oil meal and cotton seed meal which are among the cheapest sources of protein available in our markets. The importance of keeping succulent feed for the dairy cow is not to be underestimated. Farmers and dairymen have experienced in pre-silo days, a rapid falling off of the milk flow as soon as the cattle were taken from pasture and put on a hay and grain feed, but, by the use of ensilage this flow of milk is uninterrupted, if the feeding of this ensilage is supplemented by the use of high protein feeds. Silage is a watery succulent food and naturally does not run high in digestible nutrients. One hundred pounds contains the following: Protein 1.2 pounds, Carbohydrates 14 pounds, and fat 0.7 pounds. Therefore one should never depend upon silage alone for feed. In substituting for hay, three pounds of silage are used for one pound of clover hay. When one depends on silage as the only feed, feed the ensilage under conditions as previously stated. Corn fodder contains more nutrients than silage as silage contains from 75% to 80% water, but corn put up as silage will all be utilized as feed, and when put up as fodder from 40% to 50% is lost. Silage, while not containing a high per cent of nutrients per pound, when fed in proper combination will enable an animal to better assimilate other classes of roughage than the grain that is fed.

Therefore a farmer having fifteen or twenty mature cattle or its equivalent, should consider building a silo. Corn is growing very luxuriantly in the county this year. An early frost may catch the crop before it matures. A silo with an immature crop will be paid for by the part of the corn crop that can be put in the silo under such conditions. A silo built now should not be looked upon as an added expense to this year's business but rather as an investment that will net 100% on any investment and do it every year.

HOME TOWN HELPS

REFUGE FROM SUDDEN STORM

Easily Constructed Shelter Which Should Have Place on Every Public Picnic Ground.

There is not much pleasure to be had in the woods if no shelter is near when rain threatens at any minute. Many picnics are broken up by showers which last but a few minutes, simply because there is no way to protect the food or to keep dry until the squall passes over, writes C. L. Meller, Fargo, N. D., in Popular Mechanics Magazine. A shelter, such as illustrated, will take the discomfort out of walks and picnics, and will induce people to tempt the weather more often, since they know that protection is within easy reach.

A dead tree, the trunk of which is still quite sound, makes an excellent start for such a shelter. It should be cut off about ten feet from the ground, care being taken to make the saw cuts as even as possible. It may be necessary to erect scaffolding to make this cut properly. After the cut surface is worked smooth, eight rafters are fitted into the top of the trunk. The rafters are 12 feet long, four of them being two by four inch timber, and four, four by four inches. They are supported at the outer end by four by four inch posts, driven into the ground and extending eight feet above it. The four by four inch rafters should be fitted into the log first, the two by four inch being added later. Upon this framework, which forms an octagonal, umbrella-shaped structure, seven-eighths inch boards are nailed to form the roof. This may be covered with shingles or some roofing material.

For greater comfort, a seat built around the trunk may be added, and other seats may be built near it. The whole structure should be finished in a dark, neutral brown, with just a touch of white trimming. If the roof is stained a moss-green, the color scheme will be in harmony during all seasons of the year, with the prevailing colors throughout the surrounding woods.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Best Tomorrow

Sessue Hayakawa, the renowned Japanese actor, who is ranked by critics as the premier actor of the screen today, has big dramatic moments in his latest production "Bonds of Honor," the theme of which is built around the reverence of the Japanese for "the honor of the family name." The production was made by the Haworth Pictures Corporation and released through the exchanges of Exhibitors Mutual.

The story throws an interesting light on the traditions of the Samurai, or ruling class, of Japan. In this intensely dramatic story Hayakawa plays a dual role, that of twin brothers, Yamashiro and Sadao, sons of the Count Sakurai, who is high in the councils of the state of the Flowery Kingdom. Sadao has brought disgrace upon the family name by delivering important plans to German intriguers, and has fled to Russia with the spies. Yamashiro offers to expiate his brother's crime and places himself at the disposal of the high officials. How he clears the stain from the family honor and restores the plans to his country is told in a drama of power and emotional climaxes that hold to the final denouement.

The two entirely contrasting characters call upon the resources of this great actor, who succeeds in presenting distinctive characterization convincingly.

Dainty Tsuru Aoki, who has an appealing role as the sweetheart is Mune Hayakawa in real life. Others who make up a notable cast are Marjorie Sals, Herschel Mayall, Toyo Fugita and M. Foshida.

The production was made under the direction of William Worthington, who directed "His Birthright," the first picture made by the Haworth Company.

AMERICA'S DEAD TO REMAIN IN FRANCE

BILL PENDING TO APPROPRIATE $500,000 TO ESTABLISH A NATIONAL CEMETERY.

CAPT. DANIELS' FINE PLAN

Former Landscape Engineer of National Parks Suggests That American Trees and Wild Flowers Be Transplanted to Resting Place of Heroes.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Senator Spencer of Missouri has introduced a bill to appropriate $500,000 to establish in France an American national cemetery in which shall be buried the fallen soldiers of the American expeditionary forces. The measure already has passed the senate and is now pending in the house.

In the bill is a provision for the appointment of three senators and three representatives to plan and carry out the terms of the measure. It is not taken for granted by the friends of the project that these members of congress actually will select the place for the national cemetery nor undertake to plan its arrangement.

It has been suggested that the only thing to do is to send to France some American expert who combines engineering ability with a sense of landscape beauty in order that the cemetery shall be entirely worthy of the purpose to which it is to be dedicated.

As time goes on it becomes increasingly evident that the bodies of the majority of our dead in France will remain there, hallowing the soil on which they gave up their lives for the cause of liberty. It was believed at the outset that the United States government would bring back to this country the remains of all its heroes. This thought was based on the evident desire of most of the families of the dead that such a course should be pursued. A change has come over the situation and recently there have been strong intimations that American fathers and mothers and sisters and brothers feel it is more fitting that their dead kin shall continue to rest where they made the heroic sacrifice.

Roosevelts Led the Way.

Undoubtedly the example set by former President and Mrs. Roosevelt in the case of their son Quentin, had much to do with the change of American opinion upon this subject. Colonel Roosevelt before he died joined with his wife in a statement that he thought it highly fitting that his son who went to his death in battle should rest in the place of his endeavor. Immediately following this expression of sentiment in the case there was a marked falling off in the requests from Americans that the bodies of their dead should be brought back to the United States. In many letters which were received at that time, the Roosevelt sentiment was echoed.

An appealing plan has been suggested for the great American cemetery in France, and already it has been proposed to members of congress from various sections of the country, and all of them have given it approval. The suggestion comes from Capt. Mark Daniels of the engineer corps, who, by profession is a landscape engineer, Captain Daniels was the landscape engineer of the Yosemite national park and general superintendent and landscape engineer of the United States national parks in 1914-15.

It is believed by this army officer that a study should be made of the various sections of the embattled parts of France, and that some place beside a river where the soil is responsive should be chosen for the American national cemetery. The thought which has appealed most strongly to members of congress, and to others who know of it, is that there should be planted in the cemetery trees from every state in the Union, and that American wild flowers should be transplanted to blossom on and among the graves of the valiant.

If this plan were to be carried out, the dead of all the states would lie, as one might say, in home surroundings. It is possible to grow in France many of the trees which find root and life in the various states of the Union. The willows, the maples, the pines, the magnolias, the sequoias, and scores of other American trees will find the soil of France hospitable.

The subject has been studied already and it is known that so far as the tree and the wild flower growths are concerned, it is entirely feasible. The sentiment which attaches to the plan is strong.

In France in 1915 and again in 1918, I gathered on the battlefields wild flowers which I could not tell from those of the same general species which grow in the United States. The red clover was slightly different, but in the daisies and the buttercups I could distinguish few variations. Trees of the same families, but perhaps of not exactly the same species as those which grow in the United States, are abundant in France. The white birches, the oaks, and other trees with which Americans are familiar, grow there strong and beautiful. All these trees are closely akin to the American species, and with the soil of France hospitable as it is, tree men say that our new growths will take kindly to the new environment.

When the Farmer Has to Plow

THERE comes a time on every farm when work must be done at once if it is to be done at all. It may be plowing, cultivating, harvesting, or housing of the crops. When conditions are right the work must be started and pushed with all possible speed if the farm is to pay a maximum return that season.

Under such conditions the man on the job has no time to go to town, even to get necessary supplies, and no one on the place can be spared for that purpose.

Sometimes it is necessary to send in for food, seed, or machinery, but for his requirements of petroleum products, the farmer knows that he will be supplied by the dark, green tank wagon of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) which calls at his home as regularly, though not as often, as does the man who brings his mail.

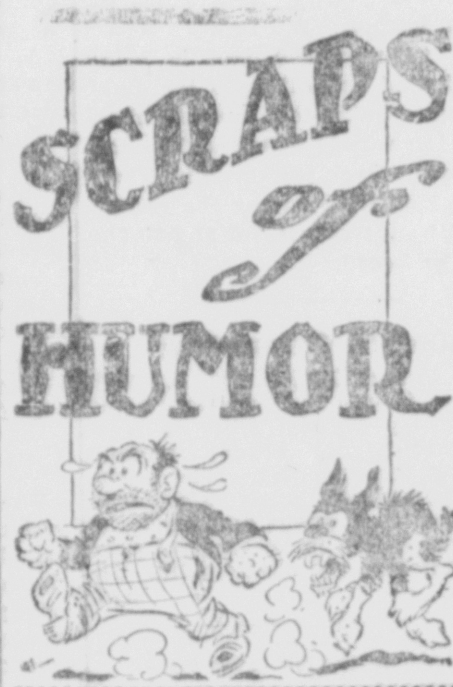

He has learned that he can depend upon this delivery service, and that the Standard Oil man will deliver his kerosene, gasoline and lubricating oil not only to his door, but, if needs be, to the tractor in the field—there are 150,000 tractors in the Middle West.

This is the reason for the harmonious, close, friendly relations which always have existed between the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the farmers of the Middle West. Also this is another reason why the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) takes pride in its position as a public servant, doing an exacting job as well as it knows how, to the distinct advantage of the man who raises the crops, and the millions who eat them.

Local 517 to Meet This Evening in Small Hall of Trades & Labor Hall at 8 o'clock

FORCE CONGRESS TO ADOPT GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

Threatened Strike of Railroad Men Mainly for this Purpose

Washington, Aug. 2—Chiefs of the railroad brotherhoods made it clear today that the organized railroad workers are going to do all in their power to force congress to adopt government ownership of railroads as a permanent policy. The railroad operators have charged that present strikes and threatened strikes of railroad workers are directed to this end, more than they are to the high cost of living. The brotherhood heads admit that they want government ownership, and in a statement endorsing the "plumb" plan, submitted to congress today, providing for nationalization of the roads and profit sharing with the workers, declare that this is labor's bill, which "has the purpose of reducing the cost of living by operating the most important industry in the country for service rather than profit." Investors and operators who remember how the brotherhoods forced the Adamson law onto congress in 1917 with threats of a strike are fearful of results in this new organized campaign of the workers for government ownership.

High Prices World Wide

New York, July 26—While anti-union elements are blaming organized labor for present high prices along comes the Annalist, financial paper, and prints a war industries board report which declares that high prices have spread throughout the commercial world. High prices prevail in Japan, where it is a crime to organize a trade union, and in India, where organization of the workers is an unknown doctrine.

"Remoteness from the chief scene of conflict," it is stated, "did not protect Japan nor Australia from a revolution in prices; difference in economic organization did not protect India; the maintenance of neutrality did not protect Argentina. No other development has ever demonstrated so forcibly the strength of the economic bonds that unite all the nations of the globe in a common fortune."

H. C. of L. Will Stick

New York—The man who expects to see Mr. H. C. of L. retire will be disappointed according to a statement issued by the Merchants association. The opinion is expressed that prices and wages will remain at their present high levels indefinitely, if they do not mount higher. The housing outlook is discouraging, it is stated, because of a failure to build. The association makes two recommendations—one not to worry landlords who are charging high rents and the other to exempt from federal taxation the income from mortgages up to $40,000. The workers, of course, are blamed for building costs, and it is suggested that the determination of organized labor to maintain these rates will be successful, though they violate the "law of supply and demand."

Konenkamp Resigns

Chicago, Aug. 4—S. J. Konenkamp has resigned as international president of the Commercial Telegraphers' union. In a letter to the executive board announcing this decision, he said:

"My reasons for this action are purely personal and my chief regret will be to sever the harmonious and at all times cordial relations with my fellow officers. I accepted the presidency in 1908 to serve two years and have spent nearly 12 in the office now. At that time it was my ambition to practice law and now I hope to see that ambition realized."

Win Three Years' Strike

Pittsburg, Pa.—Three years ago union coal miners started an organizing campaign throughout the Allegheny valley. They were successful except in the case of the McFetridge Brothers Coal company and the Pittsburg Plate Glass company. The former concern, however, has agreed, after three years of fighting, to recognize the union and has signed an agreement similar to that signed by other union coal companies.

"ENJOY YOUR HOME" MEANS

Haven't you often thought of a home with plenty of "breathing" space on all sides; screened front porch; commodious living room with a real fireplace; substantial woodwork and hardwood floors finished just the way you like; a sunshiny kitchen; airy bedrooms with plenty of closet space; a dining room that makes a good meal taste better—in fact, a house that you're proud to show to your friends.

You can have your home built just the way you like and there's really no reason why you shouldn't.

We'll be glad to help you select the right design, to choose the materials that will prove most economical in the long run and to recommend reliable contractors to do the work.

We can show you, how easy it is to finance a home. There's no obligation when you come to us for suggestions.
